COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course provides an overview of the expanding field of School Psychology, the advances in the professional role of the School Psychologist as a collaborative reflective decision-maker and data-oriented problem solver. This course reviews information and investigates numerous topics related to the profession of School Psychology including the historical development and merging of education and psychology. In particular this course investigates the following topics: an historical understanding of public education; graduate training and models of professional preparation; practical information related to licensure, certification, and accreditation; diversity of job settings and professional opportunities; diversity of client populations served (teachers, parents, students); past and current research publications related to education and special education; internet resources and the growing role of technology with related school-based intervention and practice; legal and ethical dilemmas facing school psychologists; and special education laws and policies relevant to the practice of school psychology (focusing on Utah and Federal laws). During this course, students investigate and discuss their observations of a variety of educational and psychological programs and practices (at the program level and individual one-on-one services).

Additionally, this course investigates how the profession of School Psychology interfaces with organizations and systems, inclusive of the individual, family, school system, and community. Of particular importance, this course also focuses on how special education guidelines, practice, professional ethics, and law impact the manner in which services are offered to meet the educational and social emotional needs of students. Practical applications of special education services in school settings are discussed, including the process of identifying and tracking student needs, assessing for educational disabilities and determining the need for special education services, understanding and writing IEP goals, and identifying research-based interventions for individuals, groups, and systems.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

READING: Students are required to read weekly assigned readings and explore related topics on the internet (state and national education websites) -- aligned with course topics/objectives.

EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING: Students will list their experiences that align with their personal goals for the class (the student's personal IEP). Experiences will include a variety of pre-planned activities, including observing school psychologists and other professionals in public school/educational settings.

For each class period (identified by date and lecture topic), students will take notes and will include these notes in their personal folder in the 606 Dropbox folder. These notes are for individual use and are acceptable in bullet point format.

ASSESSMENT OF LEARNING: In-class exams (midterm and final exam) and weekly quizzes will assess students' knowledge gained from reading assigned readings and participating in class discussions and learning activities.

ELECTRONIC Dropbox folder: Each student will collect and organize class assignments. In the individual Dropbox folder, students will include personal class notes summarizing key information and handouts and resources reviewed in lectures and presentations (comments regarding material presented in class). Dropbox folder content must address the 8 major objectives listed in chart (learning objectives). The finalized student Dropbox folder is due on the date/time of the final exam. The Dropbox folder must be in an electronic format.

30 Hours of School-Based Experiences: Students will select, carry out, and then briefly describe their weekly school based experience (related to each student's "personal IEP"). A short summary of these learning activities will also be included in the Dropbox folder. This information will also strengthen students' learning by summarizing specific topics, concerns, and insights.

Two Class Presentations: During the semester each student is responsible for one week's topic from the course lecture topics (Best Practices Readings) and one historical person or historical event (Historical Reading). These are not necessarily on the same day. Students will prepare a 20- 30-minute class presentation summarizing the Best Practices Readings. Students will prepare a 10- to 15-minute presentation on the Historical Reading. For each of the presentations, the presenting student is responsible for submitting a short summary: (a) 1-2 page summary of the Best Practices Readings (may include Websites and additional information if desired) and (b) 1 page summary of the Historical Reading. For each presentation classmates and professor will offer supportive feedback to presenters. (Grading/feedback rubric is included in syllabus.)

Lead One Class Discussion: Each student will lead one class discussion from the chapter readings on Ethics and Law.

Midterm and Final Exam: Students are also required to complete a midterm and a final examination. These exams cover topics addressed in readings and class discussions. The midterm will consist of a short list of questions that require brief responses and 6 more lengthy essay questions on the required readings. The final exam will consist of a short list of questions covering key material and 6 more lengthy essay questions that will require the student to draw upon basic concepts, synthesizing the information reviewed during the semester.

Evaluation of knowledge, skills, and disposition:

Student performance, specifically in the areas of knowledge, skills, and professional disposition, will be assessed during the course. This information will be formally reviewed during the end-of-semester faculty evaluations of student progress. Additionally, students will receive feedback regarding their standing midway through the course and also at the end of the semester after all course assignments are graded. If a student's performance is unsatisfactory in any of these three major areas (knowledge, skills, and disposition), the professor will set up an interview with the student to discuss a remediation plan.

(1) Knowledge base: Students earning a semester total of less than a B (less than 83%) on their assigned readings, presentations, and reaction papers, and below 83% on their final exam score will be considered unsatisfactory in their knowledge base. Marginal performance will be designated to students earning 83 -86.9% on the average score of their assignments or on their final exam.

(2) In order to assess skills, students will be provided with both peer and professor's feedback on class presentations. Students will also self-evaluate their own work, noting strengths and weaknesses and setting goals for improvement.

NOTE: During practicum and internship, students' developing professional skills will continue to be evaluated.

(3) Professional disposition will be assessed in terms of promptness to class (attending on time); quality of preparation for class (completing readings and contributing to class discussion); sensitivity and responsiveness to ethical and legal matters (as demonstrated in class comments and written assignments); sensitivity to multicultural considerations and individual diversity (as demonstrated in class comments and written assignments); consistency of attention and interpersonal involvement in class; openness/responsiveness to professor and peer-feedback regarding professional disposition; and cooperation and collaboration in group learning activities.

Note: Attending class and arriving on time reflects professional disposition. Students must be on time to class. Those who miss class three or more times and/or are consistently late (late is defined as arriving 5 or more minutes late; consistently is defined as 3 or more times of being late) will receive an unsatisfactory review on their professionalism during semester student evaluations. Additionally, in-class behavior considered to be unprofessional includes surfing the web, responding to or making cell phone calls —except for emergency calls, e-mailing, texting, reading the newspaper, sleeping, and engaging in distracting or off-task behaviors (reading books or articles not related to class discussion, scoring protocols, googling information not related to class discussion, making random comments, or engaging in conversation not related to class topic).

Students missing more than 2 classes will receive one full grade deduction for each additional class missed (except for extraordinary circumstances or illness). If a class is missed, the student is responsible for make-up work and for contacting the professor to discuss options to address missed class participation.

Feedback to Students:

Students will be apprised of their progress throughout the semester (weekly quizzes, feedback on readings, presentations, and short papers, etc.) and will receive written feedback from the professor midway through the course and upon completing course assignments/requirements. Regarding their performance in this class, students will receive a written summary of information to be shared in faculty meeting at the end of the semester.

Summary of Information Regarding Student Semester Evaluations:

Students earning a grade below 83% on the final or for the entire course (total points) will receive an “unsatisfactory” rating for the semester student evaluation of “knowledge.” Students receiving a grade of 83-86.9% on the final or for the average of class assignments (total points) will receive a “marginal” rating in the area of “knowledge.”

Students arriving late to class (after class begins) 3 or more times will receive a marginal rating on their faculty evaluation in the area of professional disposition.

POLICY:*Late work

Assignments turned in after the due date will receive a maximum of 70% of the possible points for the assignment. However, in situations involving a personal emergency, circumstances will be considered and appropriate accommodations made.

Respecting Others

Respecting individual and group differences is not only a professional issue, it is a basic tenet of Brigham Young University’s honor code. Disrespect or discrimination will not be tolerated.

Preventing Sexual Harassment

Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 prohibits sex discrimination against any participant in an educational program or activity that receives federal funds. The act is intended to eliminate sex discrimination in education. Title IX covers discrimination in programs, admissions, activities, and student-to-student sexual harassment. BYU’s policy against sexual harassment extends not only to employees of the university but to students as well. If you encounter unlawful sexual harassment or gender based discrimination, please talk to your professor; contact BYU’s Equal Opportunity Manager at 801-422-5895 or email [sue_demartini@byu.edu]; or contact BYU’s Honor Code Office at 801-422-2847. The Honor Code Office is located in 4440 WSC. Sarah Westerberg is the Associate Dean of Students responsible for the oversight of BYU’s Title IX compliance. Her office is located in 3500 WSC; her phone number is (801) 422-2130; and her email address is sarah_westerberg@byu.edu.

If you have any disability which may impair your ability to complete this course successfully, please contact me at the beginning of the semester, as early as possible, to ensure adequate prevention and intervention efforts to ensure a positive learning experience. You may also contact the University Accessibility Center (UAC; 801-422-2767). They have an Internet site describing their services and contact information [https://uac.byu.edu/]. Reasonable academic accommodations are reviewed for all students who have qualified documented disabilities. Services are coordinated with the student and instructor by the UAC Office. If you need assistance or if you feel you have been unlawfully discriminated against on the basis of disability, you may seek resolution through established grievance policy and procedures. You may contact the Equal Employment Office in the ASB. They can be reached phone at 801-422-6878 or you can visit their offices in the ASB: D-282, D-292, D-240C.

READING, LEARNING ACTIVITY, & 1-page PAPER DESCRIBING CRITICAL POINTS

Please place these summaries in your Dropbox folder. You can keep one file and designate the date on each page.

Note: Attending class and arriving on time reflects professional disposition. Those who miss class and/or are consistently late (late is defined as arriving after class starts; consistently is defined as 3 or more times of being late) will receive an unsatisfactory or marginal review (for professional disposition) during semester student evaluations. In-class behavior considered to be unprofessional includes responding to or making cell phone calls —except for emergency calls, e-mailing, texting, reading the newspaper, surfing the Internet, sleeping, and engaging in distracting or off-task behaviors.

Feedback to Students:

Students will be apprised of their progress throughout the semester (grades on readings, presentations, and assignments, etc.) and--- if there are concerns--- will receive written feedback from the professor midway through the course---and a plan for improvement ---- and then an update on progress in addressing concerns upon completing course assignments/requirements. Regarding their performance in this class, students will receive a written summary of any concerns that would be shared in faculty meeting at the end of the semester. Exceptions and accommodations may be made in certain situations (illness, disability related challenges, family circumstances, etc.).

EVALUATION OF KNOWLEDGE, SKILLS, AND DISPOSITION:

Student performance, specifically in the areas of knowledge, skills, and professional disposition, will be assessed during the course. This information will be formally reviewed during the end-of-semester faculty evaluations of student progress. Additionally, students will receive feedback regarding their standing midway through the course and also at the end of the semester after all course assignments are graded. If a student's performance is unsatisfactory in any of these three major areas (knowledge, skills, and disposition), the professor will set up an interview with the student to discuss a remediation plan.

(1) Knowledge base: Students earning a semester total of less than 83% on their assigned readings, presentations, and reaction papers, and below 83% on their final exam score will be considered unsatisfactory in their knowledge base. Marginal performance will be designated to students earning 83-86.9% on the averaged score of their assignments or 83-86.9% on their final exam.

(2) In order to assess skills, students will be provided with both peer and professor's feedback on class presentations. When needed, students will also self-evaluate their own work, noting strengths and weaknesses and setting goals for improvement (remediation plan).

NOTE: During practicum and internship, students' developing professional skills will continue to be evaluated.

(3) Professional disposition will be assessed in terms of promptness to class; quality of preparation for class (completing readings and contributing to class discussion); sensitivity and responsiveness to ethical and legal matters; sensitivity to multicultural considerations and individual diversity; consistency of attention and interpersonal involvement in class; openness/responsiveness to professor and peer-feedback regarding professional disposition; and cooperation and collaboration in group learning activities.

Summary of Information Regarding Student Semester Evaluations:

Students earning a grade below 83% on the final for the entire course (total points) will receive an "unsatisfactory" rating for the semester student evaluation of "knowledge." Students receiving a grade 83-86.9% on the final or the average of class assignments (total points) will receive a "marginal" rating in the area of "knowledge."

Students arriving late to class (after class starts) ---3 times or more--- will receive a marginal or unsatisfactory rating on their faculty evaluation in the area of professional disposition.

TOTAL POINTS
---------------------

Points may be deducted from your total

One point is deducted for arriving late to class. Students missing more than 2 classes will receive one full grade deduction for each additional class missed (except for extraordinary circumstances).

Late work: Assignments turned in after the due date will receive a maximum of 70% of the possible points for the assignment. However, emergency circumstances will be considered and appropriate accommodations made.

ELECTRONIC Folder: Students will collect and organize class assignments in their online Dropbox folder: personal notes will be taken for each class period--bullet points are acceptable-- summarizing key information. The folder's content must address the 8 major objectives listed under course objectives.

PERSONAL IEP –30 hours School-Based Experiences: Students will select, carry out, and then briefly describe their weekly school based experience. A short summary of these learning activities will be included in the student's electronic folder. Collecting and organizing materials for this electronic folder strengthens student learning by summarizing specific topics, detailing concerns, and highlighting insights.

Final Exam: Students are also required to complete a final examination. The exam covers topics addressed in readings and class discussions. The exam will consist of short fill-in-the-blank questions and 6 essay questions that require the student to draw upon basic concepts and synthesize information reviewed during the semester.
